

INDEX TO SIGNAL

Volume 47 September 1992 through August 1993

TITLE

A

1. Academia and Industry Build New Paradigms for Economic SuccessJune 113
2. Academia Rides the Changing Tide of C3I.....May 65
3. Acoustic Sensor Science Maintains Ally's StealthOct. 23
4. Active Airborne Arrays Enable Agility, SecurityOct. 24
5. Advanced Broadband Services Clear Technical Roadblocks.....March 57
6. Advanced High-Speed Chips Move to Parallel ProcessingJune 23
7. Aerospace Industry Defines Course at Farnborough ShowNov. 53
8. Aerospace Technology Drives Future Transportation ..June 35
9. Air Superiority Depends on Self-Protection Gear.....Oct. 45
10. Aircraft Sensors Unmask Foes, Anytime, Anywhere ..Sept. 25
11. Applied Research Effort Empowers Fleet Actions.....Dec. 33
12. Army Confronts Issues, Gains Information Flow.....April 29
13. Army Systems Engineering Bolsters Global OperationsApril 19
14. ARPA Pursues Multitrack Approach to New DisplaysMay 19
15. Aspin Outlines Huge Defense Cuts Mandated by PresidentApril 60
16. Association's Allure Binds Real, Simulated Worlds ..July 11
17. Aviation Industry Wrangles as Competition Intensifies.....Sept. 39

B

18. Baltic Republics Strive for Modern Infrastructure ..March 47
19. Basic Electronics Science Fortifies Fleet Operations ..Dec. 21
20. Battlefield Communications Adds Capability, FlexibilityFeb. 45
21. Binary Data Patterns Prod Multimedia Imaging PowerMay 30
22. Boosting U.S. Highway IQs Requires Varied SciencesApril 50
23. Britain Tracks Low Risk Advanced Tactical Radio.....Nov. 17

C

24. Canadian Avionics Industry Stretches for Global NichesSept. 61
25. Central Imagery Office Eyes Common Standards, Systems.....May 57
26. Chip Wars Escalate With Rapid Processing Designs.....June 42
27. Chirp and Fuzzy Logic-Like Advances Deter Noisy Media.....March 22
28. Citizen Service Proposal Offers to Trash Red Tape ..June 65
29. Civil Transport Blueprint Exploits Fighter Avionics ..Sept. 33
30. Clinton Administration Signals Strong Scientific Thrusts for Industrial Vigor.....March 11
31. Combat Identification, Data Pose Battlefield Awareness.....Nov. 37
32. Common Avionics Gameplan Earns Pentagon Acceptance.....Sept. 30
33. Computer Confab Targets Acute Technology ThemesApril 63
34. Computer Technology Stands Poised for Substantial LeapFeb. 35
35. Consumer Electronics Drive Telecommunications TrendsMarch 24
36. Contractor Support Boosts Thriving Information EffortApril 25
37. Controversial Telecommunications Program Still Praised for Service, SavingsJune 119
38. Cooperation and Flexibility Portend New World SecurityDec. 57

39. Corporate Information Eyed for Federal-wide Adoption.....April 48

D

40. Data Base Storage Software Enables Imagery RetrievalMay 35
41. Defense Companies Realign in Drive to Remain ViableSept. 37
42. Defense Department Revs Up Dual-Use Technology EngineJuly 39
43. Defense Simulation Poised for Numerous ApplicationsFeb. 42
44. Defense Technology Quickens Avionics Growth, Upgrades.....Sept. 43
45. Defense's Science Strategy Seeks Systems SuperiorityOct. 47
46. Despite Spending Decline, Electronic Budgets Burgeon.....Feb. 50
47. Digital Receivers Offer Ease of Use, EfficiencyMarch 61
48. Diminutive Rugged Radio Endows Full Tactical Use ..Nov. 19
49. Distributed Network Links Army Software Developers.....June 115
50. Distributed Radar Provides Detection With Data Fusion.....Sept. 68
51. Dogfighting Triumph Hinges on Avionics, Software CodeSept. 53
52. Dual-Use Solution Sparks ControversyAug. 63
53. Dynamic Alliance Changes Daunt European PlannersOct. 39

E

54. Earth Sciences, Surveillance Dominate U.S. Space EffortsJune 101
55. Electronic Systems Challenges Abound in Vast Pacific RegionNov. 15
56. Electronic Village Concept Offers Diverse Information ServicesJuly 43
57. Electronic Warfare Marks Data Processing's Wallop....Oct. 43
58. Electronic Warfare Research Focuses Navy Virtual Reality.....July 14
59. Embedded Training Offers Savings, Improved LearningJuly 50
60. Engineering Designs Boost Superconducting PotentialJan. 30
61. European Avionics Soar for Military, Civil Uses.....Sept. 57
62. European Firms Keep Pace on Technology's FrontiersOct. 26
63. European Science Flies in an Orbiting LaboratoryOct. 51
64. Evolving Business Change Expands European MarketsDec. 53
65. Exhibits Reflect Two-Way Technology Flow PotentialAug. 74
66. Export Control Shifts Aim to Convert, DiversifyJune 69

F

67. Facing Regional Challenges Boosts Intelligence UrgencyAug. 11
68. Fleet Data Links Enhanced by New Architecture, Gear.....Nov. 32
69. Fluid Battle Scenes Bank on Fast Adaptive Schemes Nov. 23
70. Fly-by-Wire Controls Net Crucial Airliner AdvancesOct. 35
71. Foxhole-to-Pentagon Channel Target of U.S. Army CommandApril 15
72. France Provides Case Study For Preserving U.S. Defense.....Feb. 48

73. French Firm Brings Space Industries Down to Earth....Oct. 33
 74. Future Aircraft Electronics Portend Gigabit Processing.....Sept. 20
 75. Future Fleet Performance Hinges on Robust Research.....Dec. 15

G

76. Generic Aerial Electronics Impart Tactical Exchanges.....Sept. 47
 77. German Technology Reigns in Aircraft Applications.....Oct. 31
 78. Global Pollution, Climate Surrender to Simulation.....Jan. 35
 79. Government-Industry Rivalry Stimulates Revamping Policy.....June 19

H

80. High Technology Catalyst Mission Emerges for AFCEA.....Oct. 54
 81. Holographic Memory Offers Megabytes for Small Change.....March 53

I

82. Imagers View Bright Future in Photo, Document Storage.....May 47
 83. Imaging Joins Technology Parade.....May 17
 84. Imaging Technologies Alleviate Document Processing Concerns.....May 43
 85. In Wake of Cutbacks, Information Science Looms More Critical in Competitive Arenas.....Jan. 15
 86. Individual Chips Muster To Hit Supercomputing Aims.....June 45
 87. Industry's Exhibits Can Plug Directly Into NATO Test Beds.....Feb. 26
 88. Industry, Government Cluster Beneath Electronic Umbrella.....Aug. 69
 89. Instant Information Demand Drives Creative Joint Testing.....April 31
 90. Instant Mission Planning System Readied for Fleet.....Dec. 41
 91. Integrated Circuit Device Enables Immediate Information Access.....April 55
 92. Intelligence Aim Veers To Amassing Overt Information.....Aug. 37
 93. Intelligence Community Seeks New Security Structure Role.....May 61
 94. Intelligent Networks Pose Fast Voice, Data, Imagery.....Nov. 59
 95. Interactive Television Link Serves, Empowers Viewers.....May 37

J, K

L

96. Laboratory Materials Research Improves Computer Memories.....Jan. 31
 97. Laboratory Research Expands National Prosperity, Security.....Aug. 12
 98. Large Color Displays Abet Pilot Cockpit Performance.....May 28
 99. Laser Research Bears Fruit in U.S. National Laboratory.....Jan. 45
 100. Latin America, Caribbean Promise Market Bonanza.....March 29
 101. Level Communications Funds Meet Force Projection Needs.....March 37
 102. Lickety-Split U.S. Production Shifts to Agile Manufacturing.....Aug. 17
 103. Line-of-Sight Radio Fading Prompts Remedial Program.....Nov. 63
 104. Los Alamos Science Prompts Atomic Level Electric Fields.....Jan. 25

M

105. Manufacturing Technology Wends Way Into Markets.....Jan. 41

106. Mapping Agency Products Take Smart Digital Route.....Aug. 49
 107. Mexico Surges Into New Telecommunications Age.....March 33
 108. Microcircuit Technology Improves Readiness, Saves Resources.....Aug. 53
 109. Micromechanical Device Stalks High Definition Image Markets.....May 25
 110. Military's Digital Tools Slay Civil Paper Dragons.....Feb. 16
 111. Military, Industry Plan Posture for New Era.....March 71
 112. Mobile Communications Global System Emerges.....March 43
 113. Moving Science to Market Gains National Lab Focus.....Jan. 19

N

114. NASA's Advanced Spacecraft Orbital Switchboard Readied.....April 39
 115. National Technology Center Reorients Advanced Research.....Aug. 31
 116. Navy Educates Business with Multilevel Security.....May 51
 117. Navy Technology Bulwark Prods Sea Power Advance.....Dec. 37
 118. Networking, Flexibility Define Simulation Push.....July 26
 119. Neural Networks Enable Radio Wave Propagation Modeling.....Feb. 29
 120. New Internet Security Model Offers Flexibility, Protection.....Feb. 32
 121. New Radar Approach Relies on Digital, Open Structures.....Dec. 49
 122. New Technology Alters Support to Intelligence.....Oct. 59

O

123. Obscure Advisory Group Studies Foreign Intelligence.....Aug. 47
 124. Open Source Intelligence Clarifies Global Threats.....Sept. 65
 125. Open Systems Architecture Standard for Space Avionics.....Sept. 62

P

126. Pacific Region Holds Key to Technologies' Advance.....Nov. 41
 127. Photodiode Devices Provide Enhanced Laser Accuracy.....Jan. 49
 128. Powerful Market Forces Buoy Digital Information Industry.....June 85
 129. Professional Imaging Panels Plumb Progress, Applications.....Aug. 76
 130. Professional Interchange Offers Best Bet for Intelligence Coups.....Sept. 67
 131. Prototype Command Center Expands U.S. Navy's Vistas.....Dec. 45

R

132. Radical Changes Beckon in Designing Defense Systems.....Aug. 61
 133. Radical Telephone Grabs Huge Bandwidth Promise.....March 14
 134. Rapid Information Transfer Quest Centers at Federal Research Lab.....Jan. 38
 135. Realistic Battle Simulation Drives Acquisition Crucible.....July 33
 136. Research and Development Offers Underpinning to Future Force Clout.....Dec. 13
 137. Revolutionary Microsensors Stimulate Vast Applications.....Aug. 27
 138. Robust Pacific Rim Markets Target of Technology Trade.....Feb. 55
 139. Russia's Leap Forward Hinges On Communications Mastery.....March 45

S

140. Satellite Data Links Offer Global Access.....April 43
 141. Satellites Manage Future Battlefields.....Jan. 58
 142. Science, Technology Thrusts Spotlight
 Core Competencies.....Dec. 27
 143. Scientific Keystone Links Business, Military Arenas.....June 79
 144. Signal Brigade Mounts Plan for Far-Flung
 Contingencies.....April 27
 145. Simple Eye Motion Prompts Human-Computer
 Interaction.....July 18
 146. Software Development Affects Business
 Success or Failure.....June 49
 147. Space Agency Fires Up to Boost Star Tech Transfer.....April 35
 148. Space Importance Grows As a
 Future Battleground.....Aug. 57
 149. Special Forces Prepare for Secure Communications.....March 63
 150. Strategic Mission Helps Solve Tactical Problems.....Jan. 55
 151. Strong Science Investment Pulls Firm From Precipice.....Feb. 39
 152. Strong, Responsive Defense Must Be Preserved as Budgets Decline.....Sept. 19
 153. Synthetic Environment Hones Cockpit
 Combat Performance.....July 21

T

154. Team Helps Analysts Cope With Data Flood.....Aug. 40
 155. Technology Flows Two Ways Through Matchmaker.....April 38
 156. Technology Plums Crucial to East Europe
 Advances.....March 41
 157. Technology Rapidly Changes Local Area
 Network Designs.....March 23
 158. Technology Transfer Boon to Navy, Economy
 at Large.....Dec. 18
 159. Technology Transfer Initiative Captures
 Association Support.....Oct. 17
 160. Technology Transfer Spurs Service
 Laboratory Exhibits.....June 82

161. Technology, White House Policy Offer Golden
 Age Prospect for United States.....April 12
 162. Three-Dimensional Graphics Empower
 Satellite Trackers.....July 47
 163. Transistor Advances Extend Computer Speed,
 Cut Power.....Feb. 33

U

164. U.S. Intelligence Community Confronting
 New Structure, Missions and Leadership.....Feb. 15
 165. U.S. Technology Prepares to
 Lift Eastern Europe.....March 49
 166. Ultrafast, Ultrasmall Science Cloaks
 Battle Group Prowess.....Dec. 31
 167. Uncertainty, Opportunity Define
 Budgetary Outlook.....July 56
 168. Unique Allied Center Aids Pragmatic Change.....Feb. 23
 169. Unique Research Facility Drives
 Electronic Advances.....Aug. 23
 170. Unique Visual Tools Aid Critical Materials Science.....June 93
 171. Unit Spurs Electronic Mail Over Defense
 Data Network.....April 24
 172. United States Clears Board for Russian
 Modernization.....Oct. 57

V

173. Virtual Reality Merges With Battle Simulation.....July 52
 174. Vital Optonics Progress Offers Total Vision Plan.....Oct. 19

W

175. War Fighter's Impact Crucial in Altering
 Army's Azimuth.....June 57
 176. Weather Radar Provides Clearer View of Skies.....Nov. 45
 177. Wireless Era Dawns.....March 19
